PERSONAL/NONWORK // EXTERNAL

Hi Edward -- off the record, this has happened to a number of other officials, including Lagarde, Merkel, former President Bush and others. I really hope that fox business might decide not to give fraudulent hoaxes more attention and legitimacy by further spreading their work. Failing that appeal to some sort of convention that I hope that fox will apply here...here is my spokesperson statement:

Chair Powell participated in a conversation in January with someone who misrepresented himself as the Ukrainian president.

It was a friendly conversation and took place in a context of our standing in support of the Ukrainian people in this challenging time. No sensitive or confidential information was discussed.

The video appears to have been edited and I cannot confirm it is accurate.

The matter has been referred to appropriate law enforcement, and out of respect for their efforts, we won't be commenting further.

Michelle,

I wanted to verify a Bloomberg report and see if you had a statement about Fed Chairman Jay Powell tricked by Russians posing as Ukranian President Zelenskyy?

Thanks Michelle..

NONCONFIDENTIAL // EXTERNAL

Good morning,

Could you please confirm reporting that Chairman Powell held a January call with Russian pranksters posing as Ukrainian President Zelenskyy?

Please confirm the nature of the call and what was discussed. What anything confidential discussed?

How did the chairman discover he was not speaking with Zelenskyy?

Thank you,

Caitlin McFall

Hi,

I would like to inquire if there is an official statement available regarding the recent reports alleging that Fed Chair Powell engaged in a phone conversation with two Russian pranksters who were pretending to be Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskiy.

Best,
Dilara
