Tony. Good to see you back today. Gives everyone a sense of relief. Have been following the phylogenetic tree across time recently released. Concerning for vaccines as you know better than I. Don't know if you saw my email - know you are swamped - but we have found the money to inject mice with the replication incompetent alphavirus expressing pretty much every covid structural protein through a replicon system. Of course any strain can be added. We can inject mice and have serum and spleenocytes in 6-8 weeks. But we don't have a way to run results. Under mta we could ship to nih, Frederick etc to compare have a way to run results. Under mta we could ship to nih, Frederick etc to compare against what you are seeing with other vaccines, eg moderna or other mRNA/rna approaches. We could do same with vector for treatment. For us not about making money. More about contributing. Know you are drowning. But if you think worth looking at vaccine and or treatment could work with mascola or whomever for mta, etc. if you don't think worth pursuing of course it isn't. Thanks for all you are doing! Axios article I mentioned:

"Crossed lines and poor communication between the U.S. government and a leading pharmaceutical company appear to have complicated the breakneck search for a coronavirus treatment.

Why it matters: Pharmaceutical giant Gilead, in its a rush to begin clinical trials on a potential treatment, may have violated federal law instead of waiting for slow-to-come federal approvals on drug exports."

You already know that seniors and people with compromised health are at greater risk from COVID19. Do you know how much greater? Of the 5,600 who have died worldwide, 94% were 70 or older. This disease kills seniors and compromised persons and very few young people.

We seniors are also the ones who will overwhelm the hospitals if we get the virus. If we keep our infection rate down, hospitals will be able to care for the few of us who get Covid19—saving lives.

So in all likelihood, we seniors and compromised need to take far more restrictive measures than we are right now. Here's a list for such individuals or couples:

1) strict quarantine. Stay in your home, drive alone in your car, or walk by yourselves outdoors where others aren't around. No exceptions. No restaurants, no movies, no shopping, no airplanes, no going to work.

2) prepare your own meals at home. If you order delivered meals, make sure to heat them to kill any viruses that preparers may have left behind.

3) ask younger friends, neighbors or church members to do your shopping for you. Have them leave items at your door. Call this person for anything you may need.

4) if you share your home with younger people, divide your quarantine space by creating a barrier with anything you can find, and keep younger folks several feet away from the dividing line.

It would be helpful if churches, community groups and neighbors would check in with seniors to volunteer the shopping and care I've suggested.

I will bring this approach to the TF meeting. It is definitely worthy of serious consideration

Dr. Fauci, Best Practices is the way business learns. What have we learned from China and South Korea? My view: we are copying Italy, not South Korea. My understanding: SK tested every person's temperature (because virtually all COVID19 infected have a low grade temp or higher)—you couldn't go into a shop or building or drive a car without having your temp taken. Those with fever were separated, tested with results in 4 hours max, and if positive were quarantined in their homes. The result can be seen—they are back to work in China and SK. Regards, Mitt Romney
